Gaming $$$ bill awaits Gov.'s ok

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

House Bill 1633, the local and private bill intended to simplify gaming revenue collection, now sits on the Governor's desk awaiting signature into law.

The bill not only replaces the per-person boarding fee with a percentage, but it now designates exactly how those monies are to be spent.

Prior to the bill leaving the House, where it was introduced by Rep. J.P. Compretta, an amendment was added from the floor by Rep. Harry Frierson.

The amendment designated 20 percent of county located gaming revenues for each the Sheriff's Department, county school district and towards the reduction of ad valorem taxes; ten percent to be

Hancock supervisors request veto of bill

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors requested the veto of Local and Private Bill 1633 which designates how gaming revenues will be divided.

Board president Mike Lader (District 5) said, "As members of the board, we didn't feel it was fair the way the amendment to the bill was included without notification to the board."

"We felt we would rather start from scratch rather than see this bill pass."

State Representative Harry Frierson stated, "By this action, the board is voting against education, law enforcement, the libraries, the reduction of ad valorem taxes and fire protection."

Frierson reported it was his intent to supersede the board when he interjected his amendment from the floor last week, designating how gaming monies were to be divided.

"I did it to make sure the people got the benefits across the board for needs and not for some pet project of the board," Frierson explained.

He added, "I represent the rural district, people in the

The Bay St. Louis City Council approved payment of $77,400 for the balance on the train depot and surrounding grounds.

Mayor Eddie Favre reported the total price negotiated was $86,000, of which the city already has paid $8,600 as a deposit.

The grounds total 4.7 acres and extend from Agnes Street to Booker Street and include the triangle.

Included in the resolution was permission for Favre to continue negotiations with CSX for purchase of property north of the rail tracks fronting the

Amtrak arrives

Hundreds were on hand Wednesday as Amtrak's Sunset Limited arrived at the Bay St. Louis depot. Amtrak, CSX, Rapid Rail and Mississippi Department of Transportation officials, were all amazed at the reception given to the return of passenger service at Bay St. Louis. The Sunset Limited starting April 4 will run from Los Angeles to Miami. The City of Bay St. Louis has just purchased the old railroad depot from CSX and is in the process of restoring the building and grounds. (Echo staff photo by Liz Haas)

County statistics show problems in education

BY LIZ HAAS

The Hancock 2000 education committee has been working on goal one of the America 2000 program, which is all children will come to school ready to learn and parents will foster the desire to continue the learning process.

Bridget Van de Kop with the Center of Higher Learning at Stennis Space Center compiled statistics from the 1990 selected census data that are involved with the first goal.

"The purpose for the statistical data was to try to show the people how big the community is, the number of children in school and the educational level so we know what we're working with," said Van de Kop.

Some of these findings include: there were 8,683 children under the age of 18 in Hancock County.

In the county, 19.1 percent of families were living below the poverty level, which affects 27.9 percent of children under 18.

The statistics also reflected that there were 7,738 students enrolled in school pre-primary, K-12, private schools and colleges.

The educational attainment of persons over 25 in the county which included 20,398 persons was:

—2,636 have less than a ninth grade education; 3,894 have attended 9-12 grades, but have not received a diploma;

—5,895 are high school graduates;

—9,802 have attended college, but have no degrees; —1,260 hold associate degrees; and

—2,911 have earned a bachelor's degree or higher.

This translates into 68 percent of persons over the age of 25 have at least a high school diploma and 14.3 percent have earned bachelor degrees or higher.

Arnold Palmer finalizes golf course construction plans with Casino Magic

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Construction of an Arnold Palmer Academy, 27-hole professional golf course and 18-hole putting course at Casino Magic was announced Monday during a press conference at the Bay St. Louis gaming facility.

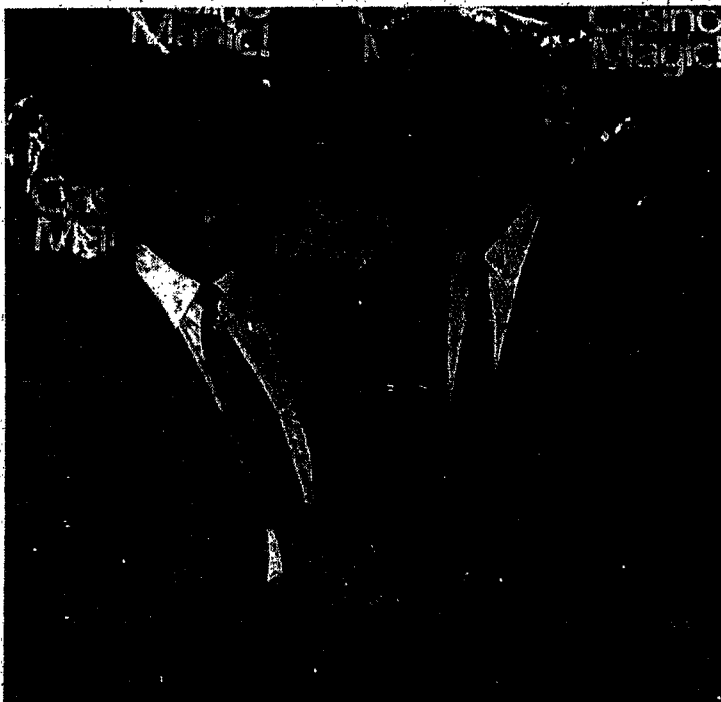

Palmer said he flew into Stennis Airport that afternoon to finalize contracts. Intended completion is planned by spring of 1994.

He estimated, between 50-100 jobs would be filled locally for the grounds maintenance.

Palmer and Ed Seay, Arnold Palmer Group executive vice president and chief operating officer, described a traditional-type course suitable for high handicappers, beginners, families and children.

He stressed the group's concern for ecological needs as well as aesthetic appeal.

AA: The only requirement, the desire to stop drinking

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following three-part series deals with the self-help and support programs available to those suffering from alcohol dependency or those affected by someone else's drinking.

BY LIZ HAAS

Howard C. from Bay St. Louis said his long bout with drinking began at the early age of 12.

Since that time he has been arrested for possession of alcohol by a minor, contributing to the delinquency of minors and for driving under the influence three times.

"Finally, my alcoholism reached a stage where it controlled my life, and I decided I was going to die," he said.

He was about 33 when he first came into the Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) program while he was living in San Diego.

"I stayed sober for a year and a half and decided I had been cured of alcoholism, so I started drinking again," said Howard.

At the time, he was living with his fiancée and two children.

"I totally ignored them to pursue alcohol. All I did was work and drink," he said.

Howard said his children's lives were really affected when he was drinking. He couldn't do anything with them and really didn't want them around, he recalled.

Pretty soon, Howard said he reached a really bad physical state where if he didn't drink he got delirium tremors.

"I had to drink to live, so I stayed constantly drunk for the last year of my drinking," he said.

During the last three months of his drinking, his fiancée and children left him.

"We decided there was no way we could live together under those circumstances because I wasn't willing to change," he said.

His children were eight and five when he and his fiancée split up.

Howard recalled that every day he wanted to quit drinking and every day by five he would be drinking again.

"I didn't have the power to stop myself," he said.

It was his drinking problem, combined with other non-alcohol related family problems, that brought him back home to Bay St. Louis.

"My family needed me to come here and I knew I could get the help I needed here," he said. "I knew that if there was munity that really needs help with education, both for the parents and children," she said.

The committee has developed theories of the causes of lack of parent involvement. Some of these include a lack of time, lack of parenting skills and lack of role models.

The committee has been meeting and developing theories of how to get parents involved with the school. Some of these include to reconstitute Parent-

Teacher Organizations to include more than fund raising, host open houses, make the schools more accessible by opening the libraries and holding classes after school hours and by using billboard promotions.

The committee has also been researching what can be done for the young people. Some of the ideas they developed include to ask the religious education directors of the churches to get involved and to ask young people what they think should be done about the goal.

The committee is working on several projects with area schools.

They are also working on defining the goal, listing obstacles, defining the magnitude of the problem, gathering data on the number of children starting school this year and next year, defining how many are ready to learn and determining how to overcome the lack of parenting skills.

Van de Kop said, "We're starting to identify groups in the community already working in these areas and define how big the problem is and the reasons for the problem."

From the steps of the county courthouse, Mississippi Governor Kirk Fordice designated Hancock County as an America 2000 community on January 19.

The county was the fifth Mississippi community to have earned this designation.

Hancock 2000 aims to join the schools to the business community.

It is the community's vision to strive for educational excellence by the year 2000 through achievement of the national goals, which have been revised to fit Hancock County.

The goals are:
—all children will come to school ready to learn and parents will foster the desire to continue the learning process;

—the improvement of local high school graduation rate;
—a safe, disciplined environment conducive to learning and free of violence and drugs;
—children will leave grades 4, 8 and 12 having demonstrated competency in English, history and geography and will excel in math and science;

—every school in Hancock County will expose all students to the arts for quality of life, ensure that all students learn to use their minds well; they will be prepared for responsible citizenship, further learning and productive employment in our modern community.

The education committee continues to meet and is working on projects to help reach the first goal.

anywhere where I could get sober, it would be here where my father did."

Howard's father had 25 years of sobriety upon his death. His father was a charter member of the Bay St. Louis AA and his mother was a charter member of the Bay St. Louis Al-Anon group.

Howard quit drinking June 6, 1992 and went to his first AA meeting June 7 at the Rehobos Club.

"There I realized I wasn't alone and there was some hope—something to make me think life was worth living.

"Before, when I would wake up in the mornings, I didn't care if I was alive.

"I knew that AA had worked for my father, and when I went back to it I was willing to do anything they suggested to stay sober," he said.

Howard started going to two meetings a day.

"I listened to people who had a lot of sobriety and who shared with me what worked in their lives," he said. "They told me I wouldn't have to stay sober forever, that I only had to live one day at a time, work through the 12 steps (of the AA program designed for personal recovery), go to meetings and my life would change."

"Shortly after that, God removed the obsession to drink from my life and my mind began to clear up," he said. "With some help from people in AA I'm working the 12 steps and the rewards of the program are present in my life every day."

"I have found that it doesn't matter if a person has one day or 20 years of sobriety, I can listen to them and hear something to help me stay sober another day," he said.

Howard said one of the main things that helps him stay sober is remembering where he came from and what his life was like before he came to AA.

"Just the fear of that physical pain of withdrawal is something I use as a reference point of what it was like, because that is something I never want to go through again," said Howard.

Howard said the AA program has lifted his guilt over things he did while drinking.

"I was sick with the disease of alcoholism and I now that I know what happens when I drink, I do not have a moral right to drink," he said.

Today Howard still goes to two meetings a day whenever possible and is living one day at a time.

Alcoholics Anonymous, started in 1935, is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope to help themselves and each other. The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking.

The tradition of anonymity of AA gives its members protection from public exposure as alcoholics and protects the unity of AA from the individual.

AA meetings are designed for both open (OD) and closed (CD) discussions.

"We encourage people to come to the open discussion meetings which are for people who are trying to get some identification of whether they are an alcoholic or not. They can come listen and talk about things dealing with alcohol," said AA member Dale L. who is the District 10 public information officer.

He said, "The closed discussion meetings are for alcoholics."

AA meetings in Hancock County are at the following times and locations:

—the Bay/Waveland group (CD) meets at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church Parish Hall on South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis at 8 p.m. on Monday and Thursday;

—the Camel Group meets at the Rehobos Club at 300 Third Street in Bay St. Louis at 12:10 p.m. (OD) and 8 p.m. (CD) Monday through Friday; Saturday at 12:10 p.m. (CD) and 8 p.m. (OD); Sunday at 11 a.m. (OD) and 7 p.m. (CD); Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. (OD), Thursday at 5:30 p.m. (CD), Wednesday and Friday at 10 p.m. (OD);

—the Coleman Avenue Group meets at 397-J Coleman Avenue in Waveland at 8 p.m. Wednesday (OD);

He reported, the instructional Academy will be the first phase of the development, expected to begin by the middle of this month.

"All ground survey work is done," Palmer stated, "we are now looking at the various routings of the courses."

The Arnold Palmer Group, he added, is presently supervising the construction of 42 courses world-wide, having designed and constructed more than 200 courses to date.

Questioned as to whether the two interests of golfing and gambling can co-exist, Palmer answered, "Most golfers have a little tingling of gambler in them."

Palmer, a member of the World Golf Hall of Fame was a four-time Masters Tournament winner.

Palmer received national popularity during the early 1960s with the advent of nationally televised golf.

During the 1960's Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player were known as the "Big Three."

divided between county fire protection districts; and the remaining thirty percent for county use.

When the bill reached the Senate it was discovered the language of the amendment limited spending to particular areas.

The Sheriff's Department could only spend its 20 percent on equipment and vehicles, and the county's 30 percent was prescribed to the general fund, which prohibited use of funds on road equipment.

Sen. Bill Johnson reworded the bill, permitting the Sheriff's Department to expend the monies for any lawful department purpose; the words "road and bridge and bridge construction fund" were added for county expenditure of its portion; and 5 percent of the school district's 20 percent was given to public libraries.

Johnson said, Sen. Bill Minor, chairman of the finance committee, reduced the school district's portion in favor of the libraries, citing the libraries as servicing educational needs.

PRC Extravaganza nets $40,000 plus

Pearl River Community College's Development Foundation raised more than $40,000 during its sixth annual River Extravaganza Sunday.

It was an evening of food and entertainment to raise money for student scholarships and teacher enhancement grants for the classroom.

In less than six years, the PRC Foundation has raised more than $1.3 million from private sources. The total includes a $400,000 land donation.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was like turning the clock back 50, 75, 100 or more years in Bay St. Louis Wednesday with the arrival of Amtrak's Sunset Limited.

There was a time when meeting the train was the thing to do years ago in Bay St. Louis.

The modern-day turnout for the Amtrak Sunset Limited inaugural run was superb at the Bay St. Louis Depot with crowds estimated well over 1,000.

As the train arrived at the Bay Depot, Ann L. Owens, Amtrak manager - Marketing and Communications, of Washington, D.C. said, she could not believe the crowd waiting for the train.

Bay St. Louis and the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce had a very good representation on the train, too.

I would like to personally thank Casino Magic for supplying transportation to New Orleans early Wednesday morning for the group.

They had one large bus and two mini-buses loaded for the trip to New Orleans.

Train passenger service along the Mississippi Gulf Coast is bringing about a lot of discussions.

Leslie Galivan of Waveland, a longtime resident, recalls that his grandfather was an engineer on the Louisville and Nashville in the days when trains used wood to keep the steam up.

His grandfather, Timothy Galvin, (the surname spelling was changed in later years), died in 1907, and he was a resident of New Orleans.

The North Bay Bay Elementary Parent Teacher Organization has compiled a cookbook as a fund-raiser. The recipes, more than 200 local favorites, are from students and their families.

Elizabeth Kimmel, PTO spokesman said, cookbooks are available at the school for a donation of $5.50 each. Call 467-4757.

PTO members are planning to set up a sales table on Saturday, April 10 in Jitney Jungle's parking lot.

Proceeds from the cookbook sale are to be used to replace playground equipment at North Bay.

All donations will be greatly appreciated. For further information, call Kimmel at 467-6287.

All 25 were winners Monday in the American Cancer Society's 3rd annual Red Beans and Rice Cook-off.

I am talking about the cooks, those from governmental agencies, restaurants and corporations. They all appeared to have had a good time in addition to helping a very good cause.

I never knew 25 pots of red beans and rice could taste so different, yet they sure did. There were seven of us judges, and we really had a hard time because all tasted delicious.

I enjoy red beans and rice. Jane cooks them about twice a month, but since Monday I want to lay off from them for a month or so.

Thanks for the help from everyone, the cooks, servers, workers, and most important, thanks to all who purchased tickets.

Sunday is clock-changing time, as Day Light Saving arrives once again.

In the Spring, we spring forward, so we set the clocks one hour ahead when we turn in on Saturday night.

I wonder how many will be an hour late for church Sunday morning.

The Bay St. Louis Knights of Columbus will sponsor a benefit spaghetti dinner on Sunday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The dinner will be served in the KC Hall, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

It will be an All You Can Eat affair, and it is for a donation of $5 each.

Proceeds are to be used by the KC's in the Seminary fund.

Sounds like a chance for mothers to get out of the kitchen on Sunday.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Congress must end wasteful government spending

For over a year, I have attempted to put a stop to the abuse of "special orders." All of us are aware of the long drawn-out speeches called special orders, which are televised on C-Span at the end of each legislative working day. However, Americans may not be familiar with the added burden these speeches place on U.S. taxpayers.

To begin with, special orders, in most cases, have nothing to do with the passing or amending of our nation's laws. Before the advent of televised House proceedings, special orders were mainly used to offer eulogies or give tributes to retiring members.

It is my feeling that special orders have become an embarrassment to the House of Representatives, not to mention a costly expense.

Some of my colleagues would say that the $50,000 cost for every 2 hours of special orders is a drop in the bucket. Unfortunately for taxpayers, several of these drops in the bucket equal nearly $1 million in just one year. How many South Mississippians wouldn't enjoy making $50,000 in 12 hours?

In defense of my colleagues, I will say that $1 million is small potatoes in comparison to our nation's debt of $5.2 trillion. But we have got to cut unneeded and wasteful government spending no matter what the savings, large or small.

To put an end to this wasteful practice, it is my intention to ask for an adjournment vote at the end of each day's legislative schedule. This action will send a strong message to the leadership of both parties that we are serious about ending this costly embarrassment to Congress.

Be assured, that I have no intention of limiting the freedom of speech for members. It is my hope that the House will make a room available in the Capitol and that C-Span will televise the remarks of any member who wishes to address the nation.

This would not only give members the opportunity to address a national audience, but it would end the excessive cost to taxpayers of special orders and the sham of seeing members pretending to address their colleagues when in fact they are almost always addressing an empty House Chamber.

More importantly, we can do this and save taxpayers the $1 million a year needed to reprint special orders in the Congressional Record. Though all of us would like to be remembered, I think that the $500 per page cost of printing the speeches could be better spent elsewhere, or hopefully, saved.

Locations of Hancock Convenience Centers

Hancock County operates five manned Convenience Centers for county residents for disposal purposes.

Convenience Centers are located at Pearllington, Highway 604; Standard, C.C. Road off Hwy. 603; South Barn, Lower Bay Road, Lakeshore, across from post office; Washington/Chapman Road; and Central Maintenance Facility, Highway 43 off Hwy. 603.

Heavy debris, such as refrigerators, furniture and construction materials and rubbish is accepted only at the Pearllington and Standard county land fill.

All household garbage must be placed in the compactors only.

The Standard Land Fill is open daily from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m., while hours for other locations are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. All locations are closed Thanksgiving and Christmas Day.

It is emphasized that none of the centers or land fills will accept tires, paint cans or hazardous waste or materials.

The general public is reminded that dumpsters adjacent to local businesses are paid for by the respective occupants and these are not for public use.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Senate Democratic Caucus already showing strength

The new Senate Democratic Caucus, just one week old, demonstrated a couple of small examples last week of how it can flex its muscle when it wants to, and the results were impressive.

Updating, from its original 27 senators when it first organized March 18, the Caucus had grown to 35 in the past week and formally elected the first Democratic majority leader in the history of the Mississippi Senate (or the entire Mississippi Legislature, for that matter).

Traditionally in the Legislature, the lieutenant governor and his handful of top lieutenants have always decided what time the Senate will convene each day or when it will adjourn. That may not sound like anything of consequence to the casual legislative observer. However, often it can be critical to which bills pass and don't pass.

"Look, we have a majority of the Senate sitting right here in the room. We should decide when the Senate is going to convene," said Sen. Hannon Miller of Greenville, as members of the Caucus began worrying about getting up to the Senate chamber for the start of Thursday morning's session.

Immediately, all the senators agreed, and thenceforth, one of the age-old Mississippi legislative rubrics—who decides when the Senate goes to work and quits—underwent a dramatic transformation. No longer would the Lieutenant Governor have that discretionary power. Instead, the Democratic majority leader would.

Sen. John White of Baldwin had brought a "big chunk of limestone" to the meeting of the Caucus last Tuesday and plunked it down on the table, as all present awaited curiously for his explanation.

This he said was a sample of the crushed limestone rock that is trucked over the county-maintained roads in Tishomingo County from an Alabama quarry just across the state line. "They're tearing up our roads and not paying anything for it," he said.

His local and private bill to make the limestone trucks over 10,000 pounds pay a 3-cents per ton fee to Tishomingo County had been vetoed by Gov. Kirk Fordice, who said it would start a "dangerous precedent."

While told the Democratic Caucus he wanted its support to override the governor's veto. He would have it, Sen. Terry Jordan of Philadelphia, the Majority leader assured White after taking a quick poll of the members.

A few minutes later after the full Senate had convened, White called up his motion to override the veto and zammo! it was done, by a vote of 37-12, with only two Democratic defections.

Everyone around the state Capitol realizes already in the brief existence of the Senate Democratic Caucus that it is a major new force to be reckoned with. In fact, it may well become the rallying point around which the state Democratic Party will take on a new meaning in the state and build a formidable statewide organization that it has never had.

Jordan said after his election as Senate Democratic majority leader he had received calls from many Democrats around the state. "People out there have been waiting for this to happen," he said. "Next time, we're going to be organized in this state from constable to governor."

Credit for the genesis of the Senate Democratic Caucus, Senate Democrats agreed last week, goes to Sen. W. L. Rayborn of Brookhaven, a 13-year veteran who has always remained sort of an outsider because he didn't carry favor with longtime Lt. Gov. Brad Dye or present Lt. Gov. Eddie Briggs.

When I first met Rayborn back in 1978, he said to me: "Have you ever met a Redneck? If you haven't, you're looking at one." In the years since 1980 when he first came to the Senate, the rough-hewn Lincoln Countian has proved that populism in its historic sense can be on the side of progressivism in these times.

His note has been consistent in supporting public education and the taxes for funding educational reforms, as well as social programs. "I used to be a racist," he told me the other day, "but I found that was wrong." Significantly, he is keenly respected by black lawmakers.

He had worked quietly and persistently behind the scenes to establish the idea of a Senate Democratic Caucus, something that has always been alien to Mississippi lawmakers who are elected under the Democratic label, but shunned any relation to the party.

No one knew when Rayborn put out the invitation to Democratic senators a couple of weeks ago to meet and discuss forming a caucus, how many, if any, would show up. Amazingly when a majority of the Senate showed up, they were off and running.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Resident praises program

To the Editor:

Recently, Cherie Shadler presented her Bayou Town Puppet Theatre to the students of Hancock Elementary. I attended this performance and was delighted.

Cherie and her Bayou Town characters generated much enthusiasm and energetic participation from the young audience.

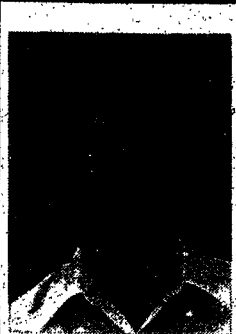

The message came through clearly that all of us have a responsibility to help keep our country clean and litter-free.

Plaudits go to Cherie for a spectacular performance! To the children, teachers and principals of Hancock Elementary, you have renewed my hopes and expectations for the next generation which is so frequently discredited.

STREET TALK

Who do you feel should designate the distribution of county gaming revenues?

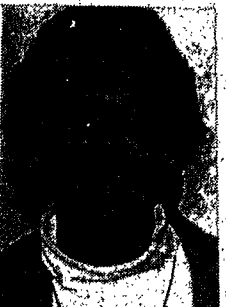

"I think the people should have a say-so. The gaming affects us, so I feel the money belongs to us, and the public should have a say-so, not the politicians."

Elmer Scheeff
Waveland

"I feel the county should have that responsibility because we have to put up with it here. That way it could be distributed fairly. Whether people are for it or against it, we've got it and can't do anything now, so the money should be spent well to help out the community."

John Eble
Bay St. Louis

"I think the way the legislature wants it done is fair. However, it seems like we should be able to control our own funds, but I'd like to know how and where the funds would be designated that way."

Robbie Merrifield
Bay St. Louis

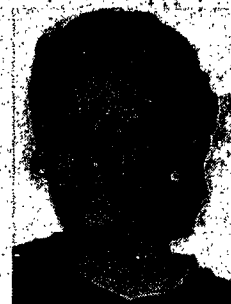

Des Smith
Bay St. Louis

"I think the legislature should do it, and then maybe it would be distributed evenly."

I don't feel like the state should be allowed to rule everything, but in this matter, I think we need it."

"I think the county should handle everything if it's county funds."

Extended hours offered for voter registration

The Bay St. Louis municipal clerk's office in City Hall on Court Street will remain open until 7 every night this week to allow citizens extra time to register to vote in the May 4 municipal elections.

In addition, they will be open from 8 a.m. to noon on the voter registration deadline date, Saturday, April 3.

Registration by mail must be received by the municipal clerk's office by April 3.

To be eligible to vote in the municipal election, a person must be a citizen of that municipality at least 30 days and 18 years of age on or before the general election day.

May 18 is the second primary runoff, with the general election June 8 pitting party primary winners and independents.

ABSENTEE VOTING
Absentee ballots may not be issued until after the Saturday registration deadline.

For the May 4 election, absentee ballots must be received by the municipal clerk's office by noon, Saturday, May 1 or by 5 p.m. on May 3 if voting by mail to be counted.

Persons wishing to apply to vote absentee can do so in person at the clerk's office or by mail to the clerk's office.

Who is eligible to vote absentee?

Business and education:
—persons engaged in interstate transportation;
—students, teachers and administrators and their spouses and dependents;
—offshore or marine workers;
—anyone whose job will take them more than 50 miles away from their home county on election day; their spouses and dependents.

Military and overseas:
—members of the Armed Forces, Merchant Marine or Red Cross; their spouses and dependents; their spouses and dependents attached to these services outside the U.S.;
—citizens temporarily residing outside the territorial U.S.;
—disabled war veterans who are hospitalized; their spouses and dependents.

Health or age:
—persons 65 or older;
—persons temporarily or permanently physically disabled; their parents, spouses and dependents who must be with them in the hospital or 50 miles away from their homes on election day.

Mississippi's U.S. representatives and senators, as well as their spouses and dependents, also are eligible to vote absentee.

northern end on the county. All during the time I was campaigning I was told they (the people) wanted better police protection, fire protection and their taxes lowered.

"Seems that the board does not remember the county north of I-10."

Supervisor Alton "Dolph Keller" (District 2) commented, "I have no problem with the way the money was distributed, but I do have a problem with Frierson taking the board completely out of its own Local and Private Bill."

"The board does not object as much to the amendment, as the way it was handled."

"We had discussed giving the schools some money, the sheriff some money, that's fine. But what we wanted to do was go ahead and blacktop some roads in this county and reduce some of the taxation for the people."

All five supervisors interjected the 20 percent reduction in ad valorem taxes designated within the amendment was less than they had planned.

District 3 supervisor Howard Lizana said, "If Harry had come and talked to us... We have been working with the rest of the legislators. If he had come in and discussed the percentages we could have worked things out... We were going to give a share to each of them and let them decide how to spend it. They know their needs, not Mr. Frierson."

District 1 Robert Peterson concluded, "We all hate to see this happen. Rep. Frierson can come to us and we will discuss things. We need to cooperate and work together."

"I like to think of the problems we face as challenges. We need to work together on this, not separate."

Frierson said, the current legislation is consistent with other Coast legislation, citing Biloxi, Gulfport and d'Iberville as samples where percentages of gaming revenues were designated to particular entities.

Frierson commented he amended the bill for the people who elected him.

Community cleanup was a success

LITTER FREE IN '93

And that is what we will be! A big thank-you from Bob Valigorsky and the other leaders in the endeavor, to those folks (you know who you are) from the Diamondhead Business and Professional group, and the Diamondhead Rotary, for coming out very early last Saturday morning, March 27, to clean up "our front door."

It seems that the Diamondhead I-10 interchange serves as a garbage dump to some people, and before you know it, there are mounds of trash and garbage littering the sides of the highway and roads outside of the entrance.

Special thanks to Chevron for providing the garbage bags, and to Jon Ritten for getting disposable gloves. The gloves are a necessity, and if we are to continue on a regular basis (and we should) it would be awfully nice to have these gloves donated by someone.

CHORALE

Applause, applause to the Bay Area Chorale's debut performance of Handel's "Messiah."

Two performances were given at the Diamondhead Country Club on Saturday, March 27. The group, along with the Jefferson Chamber Orchestra from Jefferson, La., conducted by Dennis G. Assaf, gave an outstanding rendition of this famous oratorio.

Soloists Judith D'Angelo, Deana Dobbs-Mullins, Harry Evers, Dr. Clinton Nichols, Karen Cornell Raines, Tracey Ross-Hopp, Phil Smith, Dr. Bruce Smith, Kim Stasny and George Watkins all gave wonderful renditions.

Sincere thanks to Ms. Joy Mehrtens for her excellent direction and efforts through many long rehearsals.

Thanks, too, to Curtis Stout, who hung in there from the beginning and did a great job, and to the Diamondhead Performing Arts Association for their sponsorship.

DIAMONDHEAD AARP

The AARP will meet Tuesday, April 6, 3 p.m. at the community center. Major General Clark Griffith, commanding officer of Keesler Air Force Base, will be guest speaker. His subject will be "Defending our Nation." Don't miss this one!

Healthy houseplants

Tips to ready your plants for spring

"After being indoors since October, very few houseplants look good," says University of Mississippi botanist Eva Neumaier.

No matter what you've done to simulate the outdoors during the winter months—be it fertilizer, grow lights, spritzing with water and so forth—potted plants still look "pretty pitiful" by now and need some tender, loving care in the spring to grow back into shape, the Ole Miss professor says. Here are her tips for encouraging your plants to do just that.

• Give plants a bath. Take every one of your houseplants outdoors and wash them down, even those you plan to take back inside. If your wide-leaved foliage plants are still dull after their bath, wipe the leaves with a mixture of equal parts of milk and water. "A little of the fat in the milk will remain on the leaves and give them a glossy sheen," said Dr. Neumaier, who teaches horticulture and is a landscape consultant.

• Cut them back. First, remove all dead leaves and flowers. Then—if your vining or trailing plants have gotten long and stringy because of a lack of light and a shortage of nutrients—cut them back, fertilize them and put them outside where they will get the appropriate amount of sunlight. Do the same for your other plants if they have gotten tall and lanky.

• Repot root-bound plants. Turn each potted plant upside down and gently remove it from its container to determine whether it's root-bound.

Repot root-bound plants in containers no more than 1 inch larger in diameter than the old pots. "And be sure to shake some of the old soil off the roots before putting plants in new soil. If you can't get a plant out of an old pot, take a garden hose the choice up to the home gardener.

• Propagate. When cutting back leggy plants, consider starting new containers with the tips you've removed. Likewise, consider dividing plants when repotting root-bound spider mites. If you find any of these pest, spray them with an appropriate pesticide recommended or houseplant use. Because they're usually very toxic, don't use systemic pesticides, which are placed on the soil and absorbed by plants through the roots.

Dr. Neumaier's favorite insecticides are those whose main ingredient is insecticidal soap. "The soap destroys the oily, protective layer many insects have, so they kind of suffocate. These insecticides work on a wide range in insects, and they are harmless to people and pets," she said.

• Plan ahead for spring color. If you, like many people, enjoy spots of color among your potted foliage plants in the spring, you can have it three ways.

First, try potting spring bulbs like tulips and affodils in the fall. "They need cold, so put the pots in the ground. Then, let's say about Christmas, bring them indoors and they'll bloom," Neumaier said.

Another quick way to obtain color is to take cuttings from impatiens and start new containers. If you did this now, you'd have nice flowering plants in about two weeks because they bloom so fast, Neumaier said.

"If you're really desperate for quick color indoors, clip a few branches from forsythia, quince and other budding flowering shrubs. When you bring them inside and put them in water, you can force them to bloom real pretty, and this will make you feel good."

• With plants, patience is a virtue. "As soon as we get a little warm weather, people start putting their plants outside. This is all good and fine if the pots are small and can easily be brought in again if it gets cold or windy. But if you have huge plants that are a chore to bring in, don't put them out before April 15," Neumaier said.

"It's not the temperature that's not good for them but the wind we get with our spring storms. It will just whip them apart because they are so tender from having been inside all winter."

and flush the soil away from the roots," the expert suggests.

• Add some soil and fertilizer. If you've determined that a houseplant is not root-bound, put an inch of new potting soil on top of the old to "give it a shot in the arm."

According to Neumaier, you should have already started refertilizing the soil again after winter's rest, say in February. Houseplant fertilizers come in liquids, pellets or spikes. Although she prefers using a liquid, which she prepares in a plastic gallon jug, the Ole Miss botanist says pellets and spikes are equally as good and leaves ones. Houseplants easily propagated with cuttings include wandering Jew, Swedish ivy, philodendron, arrowhead, impatiens and a host of others.

Not everything roots in water, though, so it's best to put cuttings in moist sand. "It is cheap and provides good drainage," said Neumaier. Also, put a plastic bag over the cuttings to prevent moisture from evaporating.

• Check for pests. While bathing, pruning, repotting and fertilizing plants prior to moving them outdoors, check them carefully for aphids, white flies, scale insects, mealy bugs and

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

The City of Waveland is considering applying to the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development for a Small Cities Community Development Block Grant through the Urgent Needs Category. The State of Mississippi has been awarded a 1993 allocation of $36,097,000 which will be made available to cities and counties on a competitive basis to undertake eligible community development activities; a limited amount of 1992 CDBG funds also is available. These funds must be used for one of the following purposes:

- 1.) To benefit low and moderate income persons; or
- 2.) To aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or
- 3.) To meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a threat to the health and welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs.

More specific details regarding eligible activities, program requirements, the rating system as well as the proposed urgent needs project will be provided at a public hearing which will be held in the Board Room of Waveland City Hall on Thursday, April 8, 1993 at 5:30 p.m. The purpose of this hearing will be to obtain additional citizen input into the development of a CDBG application to fund the relocation of the City's high-pressure gas line to allow for Highway 43 expansion.

All comments offered at the public hearing will be considered by the City administration in developing the proposed CDBG urgent needs application. All citizens are invited to attend the hearing.

Koloskov signs soccer scholarship at Notre Dame

Konstantin Koloskov, St. Stanislaus senior, has accepted a full tuition, four-year soccer scholarship to attend the University of Notre Dame.

Tim Burns, SSC soccer coach, said Koloskov is not only one of the best soccer players he has coached, but he is a team builder and leader.

"Konstantin scored 51 goals in his single season at St. Stanislaus, which is a school record that will not easily be broken," said Burns.

Koloskov, an exchange student from Moscow, lives with Dr. and Mrs. Max Edrington of Long Beach. During his senior year at SSC, Koloskov was elected Senior of the Month, Pepsi Student of the Month, and has achieved honor roll status each quarter.

In 1989 he was the champion of the USSR in soccer.

BAYS Under-8 Division

Dolphins, Dragons advance to district

The Dolphins and Dragons will represent the Bay Area Youth Soccer League Under-8 Division in the district playoffs April 17 and 18 in Ocean Springs.

Fourteen teams from Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Forrest counties will participate in the double elimination tournament. The first and second place finishers will continue on to the state playoffs which will also be held in Ocean Springs.

The Dolphins and Dragons survived a 21-game tournament Saturday and Sunday to maintain their positions as the top two teams in the league and the right to go to district.

DOLPHINS

The tournament started off with two ties with the Hurricanes. Several shots and goals were made by Sam Tart, Benjamin Benvenuti and Ryan Mullen. They were well defended by opposing goalies.

Jacob Durbin stepped in as goalie for the first time this year and made two nice saves. Blaine Durbin continued to show solid play at goalie.

Josh Lingsch and Colin Wilson complemented each other at the defense positions allowing few attempts on goal.

Game 3 against the Bullets was a good game. Two goals were provided by Benjamin Benvenuti and Ryan Mullen.

Game 4 against the Stingrays was another defensive struggle with Ryan Mullen (Dolphins) scoring the only goal of the game. Benjamin Benvenuti and Sam Tart made several shots which were well defended. Daniel Ladner, Josh Lingsch, Colin Wilson, Blaine Durbin and Jacob Durbin provided excellent defense.

Game 5 against the Eagles was a total defensive show-up for both teams. Both were aggressive and prevented any goals from being scored.

Game 6 against the Dragons turned out to be the game of the tournament. The game-winning goal was scored by Sam Tart in the third quarter. The rest of the game wound up being a shootout.

Several indirect kicks against the Dolphins at their goal left all fans breathless. Benjamin Benvenuti (not the goalie) sacrificed his head and body to defend two hard shots at the goal. The defense was rounded out with nice plays by Josh Lingsch, Colin Wilson, Jacob and Blaine Durbin, Ryan Mullen and Daniel Ladner.

DRAGONS

Coach Steve Leonard's Dragons were involved in six tough, defensive contests over the weekend, winning two, losing two and tying two.

The Dragons suffered their first loss of the season Saturday, 1-0, to the Hurricanes as shot after shot on goal was either wide of the mark or blocked. In their second game of Dolphins edged the Dragons 1-0.

Goalies Stephen Boh, Jace Ponder, Kace Mitchell and Michael Leonard held the opposition to only two scores in the six games. Lisa and Julie ReBoul, Brooks Breland and Mathew Saucier anchored the stingy defense, keeping shots on goal to a minimum. Grady Wyly, Ponder and Mitchell led the offensive charge.

KICKERS

When the dust finally settled on the St. Augustine Seminary fields Sunday, the Monti Electric Bay Kickers went home with a third place league finish and a 6-3-3 record. After ending the regular season with a 3-2-1 record, the Kickers won three games, tied two, and lost one in the two-day marathon.

Day one, Saturday, began with two ties. Kyle Lewis scored for the Kickers in a 1-1 match against the Stingrays, and defense was the word in a 0-0 contest against the Dolphins.

Victory came in game three versus the Bullets as T.J. Koger pushed the ball across for the only score. The only loss came against the Dragons on a late fourth quarter goal. The game ended with a 1-0 decision.

Day two, Sunday, went well for the Kickers as they were victorious in both contests. Michael Kivlan provided the edge in the opening game against the Eagles, intercepting a goal kick and pushing it across the line.

In a dramatic match to end the day for both teams, T. J. Koger took a crossing pass from Kivlan to score and defeat the Hurricanes and earn third place in the division.

Providing assistance on the offensive end of the field were Will Harris, Jacob Higdon and Brandon Higgins.

Defensively, the Kickers held scoring opportunities down behind the play of Quentin Sierra and Kevin Schaumburg.

Outstanding defensive players were Harris, who turned back numerous assaults on goal, and Koger, who made a remarkable game-saving stop as keeper. Also to be commended as keeper were Kivlan and Higgins.

EAGLES

Patrick Natal was named by his teammates as the most valuable player for the year. Beau Brodtmann was selected as Best All Around Player, Keith Herndon—Best Ball Handling Skills, and Kacey Koenenn and Andy Breaux shared Best Defensive Player honors.

Patrick Donohoe was named Most Aggressive Player, Dwayne Garcia—Best Attitude, while Most Improved went to Jennifer Magee, Christopher Braud, Nicholas Berryhill and Paul Mutter.

"They did real well, holding the top two teams to ties," Eagle coach Barbara Brodtmann stated. "I'm proud of them, they played their hearts out. They didn't give anything to anyone."

HURRICANES

Coach Ricky Bourgeois' Hurricanes had a successful tournament, winning three games, tied two, with only one loss.

Brandon Strong was the offensive standout, scoring all the Hurricanes' goals. Michael Bourgeois, Jake Pearce and Jake Johnson all made big plays on offense. Courtney Eagan, Matt Barbier and Sean Olsen dominated the defensive play.

BULLETS

Don Farrar's Bullets played short handed in each of their contests and only had five players to start the first game of the tournament against the Stingrays, a 3-1 loss. Joshua Poyadou made a good pass to Jarrod Bourgeois for the Bullets' score in that game as Brad Farrar, John Chapman and Christopher France ran interference.

Dusty McGovern joined his five other teammates in game number two, a 1-0 loss to the Kickers. In game three, goalies Dusty McGovern, Christopher France, John Chapman and Jake Kennedy stopped numerous shots on goal in a 2-0 loss to the Dolphins.

In Sunday action, the Bullets played three close, defensive contests including a scoreless tie with the Eagles.

STINGRAYS

The Stingrays defeated the Bullets 3-1 to open the tournament. Nicholas Cooper scored in the second quarter, followed by Guy Alleman in the third. The third goal came in the fourth quarter on a deflection off a Bullet player credited to Will Mestayer.

Goalies Will Mestayer, Chad Ladner, Brad Bivens and Nicholas Cooper combined for several saves, while much credit is due to the Bullets for their play, as they played short-handed the whole game.

In game two, the Stingrays battled the Kickers to a 1-1 tie as Guy Alleman scored in the fourth quarter.

Sweepers Heath Hansell, Jaqueline Fouasnon, Brad Bivens and Chad Ladner, along with midfielder Kimberly Ray, played tough defense to preserve the tie.

The much-improved Alcan Cable Stingrays beat the Eagles 3-0 in game 3, as Guy Alleman scored two goals and Timmy Kulikowski scored one on a corner kick.

The Stingrays then battled the Hurricanes to a 1-1 tie. Timmy Kulikowski scored the tying goal in the fourth quarter on a long shot over the Hurricane goalie's outstretched arms.

Fine defensive play was displayed by Jaqueline Fouasnon, Brad Bivens, Chad Ladner and Heath Hansell.

The Stingrays and the Dragons played to a scoreless tie Sunday. Kate Moran, Kimberly Ray, Will Mestayer, Heath Hansell and Chad Ladner were the defensive standouts.

In their final contest, the Stingrays fell to the Dolphins by the score of 1-0.

"It was a great game and was the Stingrays' only loss of the weekend tournament. I'm really pleased with the progress they made through the season and would like to wish the BAYS U-8 teams good luck at district," said coach Steve Kulikowski.

Main St. Methodist children's choirs present Easter musical

Special to the Echo

The Main Street Methodist Children's Choirs will present the Easter musical, "The Boy Who Believed," Palm Sunday, April 4 at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

Director is Carol Mahler, with Mary Howard as accompanist.

Performing with the choir will be Dr. David Shagerberg and David Dorn.

David Dorn II will assume the lead role of Zack, an orphan boy. Through faith and an unusual encounter, Zack comes to accept Jesus Christ.

The musical is set in Old Jerusalem and "lets you experience the life, death and resurrection of Christ through the innocence and searching of a young boy," said Mahler.

"This touching musical is sure to move and renew your spirit through songs, tears and praise," she said.

GE Plastics wins

Charles' red beans claim top prize

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Charles Johnson, Bay St. Louis native, GE Plastics employee and Krewe of Real People carnival club captain, led his company to acclaim Monday during the 3rd annual American Cancer Society Red Beans and Rice Cook-Off.

GE Plastics received top honors when a panel of seven judges declared their red beans the best in corporate competition and overall winner for 1993.

The entry also received the People's Choice Award (popular vote) for a corporate entry, making one wonder why one pot of beans appealed to so many diverse taste buds.

GE Plastics representatives insisted all credit be given to Johnson, who requested he be permitted to enter his own recipe.

He jokingly stated, "I have been cooking all my life."

"Being from a big family, I started cooking when I was 18 years old."

Johnson said his father died, leaving eight children for his mother to support. Though she received social security for the children, he said, she wanted more for them and worked two jobs to provide a better life for her family.

"We all learned to cook," he added, "and Mom didn't care how much we cooked as long as there was enough for everyone."

Johnson said, for years he has cooked for various community fund raisers and occasions.

"People have always liked my food. I guess I can cook anything."

Well, Johnson has no formal recipe, but he was willing to share what goes into his pot of red beans, and of course the essential, how to cook them.

HOW TO COOK RED BEANS
BY CHARLES JOHNSON

Take eight pounds of beans and wash them.

No soaking.

Place them in a pot with enough water to cover the beans and start them cooking.

Take a half-box of bacon and fry it off a little, then fry with the bacon: four onions, a bunch of green onions, a half of a bell pepper and a couple stalks of celery.

Add the fried vegetables and bacon to beans and cook on a medium fire 4-6 hours.

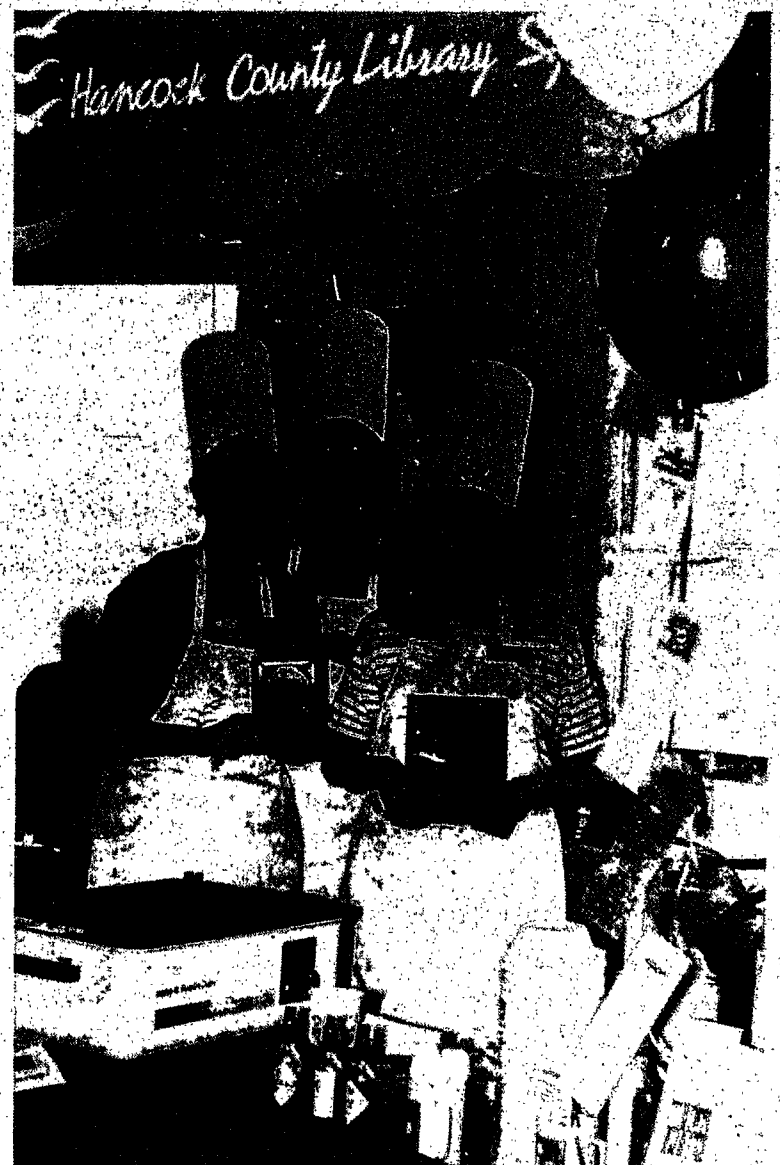

Salt and pepper to taste.

One hour before completed add one whole head of garlic chopped.

Finally, thirty minutes before completed add some sliced hot sausage.

One additional ingredient is a dash or two of a special hot sauce, which Charles refused to name.

After all, great cooks must retain some bit of mystery.

And no one lost

Monday's cookoff was fun for chefs and guests alike

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The aroma of red beans and the clatter of hundreds of voices talking at once filled the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Monday at the third annual Red Beans & Rice Cook-off.

Big winner was the American Cancer Society, which received the proceeds from the annual event.

For those able to taste all of the 25 entries, they enjoyed a palette of flavors to please any appetite which ranged from traditional (Bay-Waveland Yacht Club) to red hot (State Farm/Kelly Cannon-Felecia Craft-Mike Meyers) to seafood seasoned (The Reef) and countless in between.

A panel of seven judges including John Dane, Andrea Yaeger, Ellis Cuevas, George Lammons, Katy Caire, Robert Kane and Rhea Scaffidi selected the following winners:

Golden Bean (overall): GE Plastics; Top Bean in each category: Corporate, GE Plastics; Restaurant, Daddy O's; and Government, City-County Library System.

A popular vote produced the following People's Choice Awards:

Corporate, GE Plastics; Restaurant, Bay-Waveland Yacht Club; and Government, City of Waveland/Mayor Stella Fritol.

Best Presentation Award was given to Bay Tech, where chefs in hand-appliqued aprons dished out beans complete with tiny personalized bottles of hot sauce. Most unique flavor went to the "Courthouse Crew" of Pam Matzler, Eddie Murtagh and Mike Necaise.

Other participants (and each one was someone's favorite) included:

Restaurant—Armand's, Carole's Olde Towne, Diamondhead Days Inn, Diamondhead Supermarket, The Galley, Lala's Deli and The Reef/Cafe Reef;

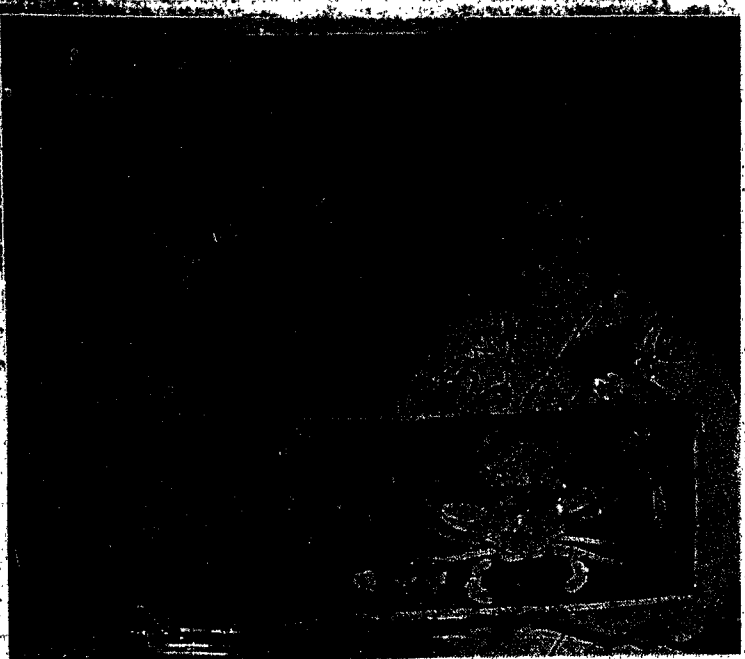

Corporate—Casino Magic, Coast Electric, Hancock Bank, Hancock Medical, Merchants Bank and State Farm agents; and

Government—Diamondhead Community

(Paul Montjoy/Buck Ladner/Tony Esau/Dennis Westbrook), Mayor Eddie Favre (Bay St. Louis); Law Enforcement team, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil/Sheriff Ronnie Peterson/Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell; Port and Harbor Commission and Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Coastal sea life

Alan Jensen, Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District's "Parent of the Year," and Janet Freeman, first grade teacher at Waveland Elementary School, designed this coastal sea life plaque, which was made by S. W. Smith of Henderson Point. The plaque has been sent to Price Elementary School in Price, Utah as part of a cultural exchange. The Utah school sent a fossilized dinosaur footprint to Waveland Elementary.

'Live and Learn' summer program offered at USM

College students returning to the Gulf Coast area this summer may want to take advantage of a special education program offered by University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Gulf Coast's "Live and Learn" program is designed for students working on degrees, taking classes for reaccreditation or special interest, sending the kids to camp, or for educational opportunities out of the country.

Live and Learn offers day, afternoon and evening classes during the summer months. You can choose from USM's regular summer courses; a variety of camps and clinics; classes in a graduate education program; international programs based in a number of countries; and a wide variety of continuing education conferences, workshops, seminars and special-interest offerings.

For information, write Southern Miss Summer Box 5016, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5016, or call (601) 266-4491.

Computer programming

GCRL offers variety of summer programs

A variety of special programs and educational opportunities are on tap this summer at the J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium (MEC) in Biloxi and at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory (GCRL) in Ocean Springs.

GCRL will offer a 10-week, two-term session for graduate and undergraduate students interested in the field of marine science. Minority financial assistance is available.

MEC will offer a wide variety of programs designed for the general public, students and for public school teachers.

Evening at the Aquarium events will be held Tuesday evenings during the summer months, and will feature family-oriented programs with topics related to the coastal environment.

Project Marine Discovery Sea Camp sessions for children ages 6-14 will be offered this year through eight one-week sessions.

Middle school teachers in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida and Mississippi are invited to take advantage of a three-week, four-semester hour course in global environmental issues. Full scholarships are available.

For information on all GCRL summer programs, write University of Southern Mississippi's "Southern Miss Summer," Box 5016, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5016, or telephone 266-5347.

Eleven CEHS students win regional Science Fair honors

Two Coast Episcopal High School students were first place winners at the recent Region VI Science and Engineering Fair, at the Coliseum.

Ninth grader Tommy Rummell was awarded a first place in the Class IV Chemistry and Biochemistry category for his project, "The Making of a Wider Spectrum of Indicator."

Eighth grader Anthony Titus received a first in Class III Zoology for his project "Variation in Feeding by Termites on Four Different Species of Wood."

In addition, none other CEHS students won regional science fair awards. They are: April Papania, 2nd place, Class III Environmental Sciences, "Wind and Water Erosion"

Danielle Inabinet, 2nd place, Class III Physics, "Rainbows" Brooke Hartwell, 3rd place, Class III Zoology, "Does the Age of a Horse Affect the Amount of Parasites It Harbors?"

Christine Andres, 3rd place, Class II Botany, "The Water Hyacinth and the Length of Time It Takes to Absorb Certain Toxins"

Jennifer Adcock, 4th place, Class II Medicine and Health, "Is there a Difference in Toothbrushes?"

Sarah Gholson, honorable mention, Class III Chemistry and Biochemistry, "How Much Oxygen Is Available to Humans at Different Temperatures, Humidities and Locations?"

Whitney Robinson, honorable mention, Class III Chemistry and Biochemistry, "Blowing Up Balloons with Yeast"

Barbara Groves, honorable mention, Class IV Physics, "Does Color or Shape Have an Effect on Microwave Energy Absorption?"

Ellen McRaney, honorable mention, Class V Engineering, "Earthquake Construction: Which Type of Building Will Support More Force?"

First, second, and third place winners in the region may advance to the State Science Fair, to be held this year at Jackson State University on April 16.

Ole Miss conference

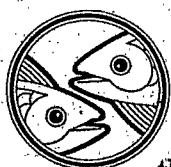

High school students Jennifer Labat and La China Tillman attended the Mississippi Achievement Conference at the University of Mississippi. The purpose of the annual conference is to recruit minority students for Ole Miss.

Chevron funds GCRL 'On the Road' program

Chevron's Pascagoula Refinery has donated $12,500 to the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory to augment funding for "Project Marine Discovery—On The Road," a traveling version of the field trip program offered at GCRL's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi.

Part of Chevron's contribution has been used to purchase a used bus from Coast Area Transit which will be used to transport marine educators and animals from the MEC&A to schools within a 250-mile radius. About 3,600 students are expected to participate in PMD-On The Road each year.

For reservations or information about On The Road or other Project Marine Discovery programs, call 374-5550.

This special three-hour outreach program funded by the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium brings marine educational programs to students in grades K-12 who are unable to travel to the MEC&A because of financial or transportation constraints. Students at Hancock North Central Elementary viewed the program in January.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Adult Literacy Education

Tutoring sessions for adults who want to learn to read and write are available through the Hancock County Library System. The program is open free of charge to any adult aged 16 and above who wants to improve reading skills to a grade five level.

Each student meets one-on-one with a certified tutor trained in the use of the Laubach Adult Literacy method. Student/tutor units meet at a time and learning center convenient to both. Learning centers for literacy are currently located in Bay St. Louis, Kiln, Waveland, Diamondhead and Pearlinton.

Call June Piley, Hancock County literacy coordinator, at the Bay St. Louis Library, 467-5282, for information. Persons who wish to teach adults to read as volunteer literacy tutors are also encouraged to call.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through Hancock and Harrison county chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sickroom supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds. Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals.

Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Support programs are also available to ostomy and laryngectomy patients. American Cancer Society service requests in the Hancock County area may be directed to service and rehabilitation chairman Deeta Ellzey, 255-4338.

Battered Women

Free counseling is offered for Hancock County women suffering from emotional or physical abuse. Connie Avera, outreach coordinator with Gulf Coast Women's Center, is available each Thursday from 1 until 5 p.m. at the Hancock County Youth Court building on Court Street.

All cases are confidential. Call 435-1968 collect for appointment.

The Gulf Coast Women's Center, a United Way agency, also offers an advocacy program for victims of sexual assault and domestic violence. A 24-hour crisis line is available by calling 435-1968.

Bay-Waveland Crisis Pregnancy Center

The Bay-Waveland Crisis Pregnancy Center offers free counseling, pregnancy tests, maternity and baby clothes. Located on Highway 90, next to the Unique Shoppe in Waveland, the center offers a 24-hour hotline, 467-3444.

Blood Pressure

Retired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing Tuesdays, 9:30-11:30 a.m., American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland; Wednesdays, 10:30-11:30 a.m., RSVP office, Senior Citizens Center, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

GED Classes

Hancock High School offers a special GED program for students who wish to brush up on skills preparatory to a college degree. Each student can find his weaknesses and strengths by taking a trial GED test and concentrating on his needs with a planned individual curriculum. Students unable to attend high school classes can study with a Mississippi certified teacher. By passing the GED test, they earn the equivalent of a high school diploma.

Classes at HHS are Monday and Tuesday from 9 a.m. until noon with Mrs. Lois Abrams teaching in Conference Room B of the administration bldg. Night classes are Monday and Wednesday, 6-9 p.m. with Mrs. Vicki Compston and Charles Rolison teaching in the junior high building.

Students may register at a class meeting, then study toward their own goals. Call Mrs. White at 467-2251 for more information.

Hancock County Humane Society

The Hancock County Humane Society operates a flea market in Bay St. Louis on Highway 90 and Drinkwater. Proceeds help needy animal owners with spay-neuter assistance, emergency pet food and emergency medical help.

The society is in constant need of good, but unwanted, articles of every description to sell in the thrift store. Gifts are tax-deductible.

Hours are 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Monday; 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Humane Society meetings are held at 7:15 p.m. on the third Monday of each month at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue. For additional information, call 467-7686.

Legal Line

Volunteer attorneys answer legal questions from the general public from 6 to 7 p.m., first Wednesdays at 1-374-4160. The service is sponsored by Harrison County Young Lawyers, South Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

Money Management

The Consumer Money Management Center serves the public by providing free financial consultations as well as informational literature and seminars for employers, educational institutions and civic and professional groups.

Information and assistance from the center relates to various aspects of personal money management including budgeting, credit repayment, insurance, and investments.

The service is sponsored by Mississippi State University and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To set up an appointment call Hancock County Extension Office, 467-6456.

Parkinson Support Group

There is a certain magic that takes over when people who share the same problem get together to help each other. Support groups are a blessing formed by closeness and love to help take away the sting that has resulted from the thought of being alone.

Parkinson Support Group is people helping people to go on living regardless of the odds, and to make a lemonade out of the lemon that has been dealt to them.

The public is invited to all meetings, which are held the second Sunday at 2 p.m. at Garden Park Community Hospital in Gulfport. For information, call 863-2929 or 467-0307.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Choosing the right card is quickly becoming more complicated

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

When my multi-purpose credit card added an annual fee, I began the search for a replacement card. What I noticed as I compared offers was the immense selection available to consumers today. Credit card issuers are remarkably competitive and innovative in attracting customers in our saturated credit market.

When advertisements inundate us with an overwhelming number of choices, how do we decipher the temptation from the deal? The key lies in a knowledge of our own habits and needs.

Because I do not keep a balance on the card, the interest rate is not as critical as the extra fees. I also do not use the card for cash advances, so cash advance transaction fees are not a consideration. Debit cards which eliminate the paper check are an attractive option, but don't replace my need for a credit card. In addition, they are not yet as universally accepted as the standard credit card.

Analyzing your personal use of a credit card helps to weigh the importance of interest rate versus annual fee. By knowing the average balance carried on the card, yearly savings derived through lower interest rates can be compared to annual fees. If you want the low interest rate without an annual fee, try asking for it to be dropped. Some credit card companies will drop the fee to keep the business.

Is a short-term, interest-free loan an attractive feature? If so, check the grace period. Grace periods vary and many cards offer no grace period on certain types of transactions. An awareness of the grace period helps time monthly payments and avoids late fees caused by delaying payment a few more days than allowed.

Credit card enhancements were introduced in the early 80's allowing companies to steer the focus away from interest rates. But the enhancement business mushroomed and itself crated a $10 billion dollar industry.

Enhancements range from ATM cash advances and extended warranties to discount buying services and frequent flyer bonuses. They are grouped in seven categories:

credit card registration, discounts and rebates, emergency services, financial services, insurance, travel services and VIP services. Proposed enhancements for the 90's may target child care, pet care, home entertainment and home maintenance.

Beware of signing up for services which are unnecessary or expensive. Read the fine print that tells what and when you will pay for these services. Some services may be included in the total card package, but don't pay extra for the package if you don't need the enhancements.

Thompson earns horticulture scholarship at State

Thompson, Estes

Garry Thompson of Diamondhead, a junior ornamental horticulture and floriculture major at Mississippi State University, has been named recipient of the 1993 Walter E. Davis Horticulture Scholarship given by the Mississippi Nurserymen's Association Inc.

The award was presented during the recent annual meeting of the Mississippi Nurserymen's Association and the Louisiana Association of Nurserymen at Baton Rouge. Presenting Thompson with a $1,000 scholarship check was Dr. Lester Estes of the horticulture department at Mississippi State University.

Thompson, the son of Terry and Dorothy Thompson, has a bachelor's degree in marketing from the University of New Orleans. A graduate of Holy Cross High School in New Orleans, Thompson plans to pursue a master's degree.

Keesler ends OTC medicine

Due to funding shortages, Keesler Medical Center will discontinue routine dispensing of over-the-counter medications. This action is also being taken at other Air Force medical facilities.

Examples of OTC items are aspirin, cough syrup, acne cream, hearing aid batteries and other similar, non-prescription items which can be purchased commercially and in military exchanges and commissaries.

The medical center is taking additional steps in order to successfully operate within the current fiscal environment.

Other actions include limiting the maintenance and repair of the medical facilities and equipment purchases to emergency situations.

Library selects bldg. consultant

The Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees has selected B. Franklin Hemphill and Associates of Woodbine, Md., to provide consulting services on the main library's proposed 10,000 square foot addition.

The project is being funded by the City of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County along with state grants for library construction.

B. Franklin Hemphill, former associate director of the Baltimore County Public Library System, has provided building consulting services on more than 75 library construction projects in the nation.

The firm is scheduled to begin work on the library's architectural program in March. The document will provide the architect and building engineers with the specialized space and function requirements that must be met in the design of the building in order to serve the community.

Groundbreaking for the project is scheduled for late summer or early fall.

Development Comm. video wins award

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Tri-County Development Commission, composed of Harrison, Hancock and Jackson counties has been awarded a Bronze New York Festivals Award.

In the 35th Festival competition, winners were selected from among 1,468 submissions from 32 countries.

The winning tri-county sales and marketing video, entitled, "Not Just Whistlin' Dixie," was conceived and directed by The Prime Time Group, a Gulfport Advertising Agency.

It was produced and edited by Mississippi Power Company Media Services and was written by George Fuller and Ted Riemann of Prime Time.

GOURMET BURGERS

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: 10 minutes

2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
8 large hamburger buns, split and lightly toasted
Tomatoes, thinly sliced
Onions, thinly sliced
Lettuce leaves
Pickle slices
American cheese slices
Processed cheese spread, warmed
Processed cheese spread with jalapeno peppers, warmed
Catsup
Mustard

In medium-sized bowl, combine ground beef, salt and pepper, mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape into 8 patties, 1/2 inch thick. Place on rack in broiler pan (or over ash-covered charcoal) 3 to 4 inches from heat source. Broil 5 to 6 minutes on first side, turn and broil 5 to 6 minutes on second side. Serve burgers between bun halves and doneness desired. Serve burgers with tomato, onion, lettuce, pickle, cheese slices or sauce, catsup and mustard.
6 servings.

Hancock County, said to be the fastest growing county in the state, is experiencing growth in many areas, including the development of businesses and the expansion of existing ones.

DON CIBO ITALIANO
 Don Cibo Italiano, formerly located in the Paradise Beach Resort in Long Beach, is relocating to Diamondhead at 4300 Aloha Circle, where Vrazel formerly operated.

HB 16

BY JACQUI CO

Senator Ollie Mohammed Governor, reported the signing of House Bill 1633 Thursday, making the state's gaming revenues self-sustaining. Mohammed stated, "We are taking the phone calls over it (the bill)." The Hancock County Board requested Wednesday the veto of the bill. The objections to the designation amendment submitted with the bill.

The Board of Supervisors resolution requesting the local order to establish a percentage rather than the per-person limit. The bill was introduced by Rep. J. Harry Frierson. The amendment designating the bill as a local option was added from the floor.
